Anyone interested in participating should contact Mary Gerstenberger at 586-469-6085 or e-mail gerste10@msu.edu.

Residents can learn to be 'citizen planners' at program

Macomb County residents interested in learning more about local land use planning and zoning are invited to attend the Citizen Planner Program, offered by Macomb County MSU Extension (MSUE).

The seven-session, non-credit series is designed for elected and appointed officials and residents interested in taking a more active role in local land use decisions.

Classes will be held from 6:30-9 p.m. every Thursday from April 10 through May 22.

Participants will learn the technical knowledge and leadership skills needed to understand and work more effectively on a planning or zoning committee.

A certificate of competency will be awarded to any participant who completes all course work and 30 hours of community service in land use planning.

The program costs $385 and registration is required by April 3.
