Board of Commissioners Chair Kathy D. Vosburg Celebrates Reading Month

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. — Macomb County Board of Commissioners Chair Kathy D. Vosburg is visiting local elementary schools and reading to children during March, which is National Reading Month.

The outreach is one way the Board of Commissioners actively supports literacy and reading education while attempting to spark enthusiasm for the written word in students. Vosburg joins fellow commissioners who are also visiting schools in their districts this month.

"This is one of the more joy-filled opportunities that comes with being a public servant," said Vosburg, who has been volunteering to read to children for more than a decade. "Reading is a crucial skill, and I thoroughly enjoy doing what I can to transfer my enthusiasm for books to children."

Vosburg has visited students at Green, Atwood, and Carkenord elementary schools so far this month.
